Arotech Announces $3 Million Stock Investment by Admiralty Partners, Inc.

Admiralty CEO Jon B. Kutler to Join Arotech's Board of Directors

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Feb. 3, 2016 /PRNewswire/ -- Arotech Corporation (Nasdaq GM: ARTX) announced today that it has signed a definitive agreement with internationally-recognized aerospace and defense investment firm Admiralty Partners, Inc. and closed on the sale to Admiralty of 1.5 million shares of its stock in a private placement at a price of $1.99 per share, resulting in proceeds to Arotech of $2.985 million. The price of $1.99 per share was set by the parties based on the price of Arotech's stock at the time negotiations commenced. In conjunction with this investment, Jon B. Kutler, Admiralty Partners Chairman and CEO, will join Arotech's Board of Directors. Additional details regarding the material terms of the transaction will be disclosed in a Current Report on Form 8-K expected to be filed today.

"We are truly flattered and excited by this vote of confidence from a legend in the aerospace and defense investment world, and we are thrilled to welcome Jon to our Board of Directors," commented Steven Esses, Arotech's President and CEO. "Jon's expertise in the fields of aerospace and defense is expected to help us to grow our business and aid in creating long-term shareholder value. We look forward to benefiting from Jon's vast knowledge, experience and contacts," Mr. Esses concluded.

"Arotech is positioned at the confluence of two trends in the defense industry – disproportionate government investment in key growth areas and the consolidation of the fragmented third-tier supplier base" said Jon B. Kutler, Admiralty Partners CEO. "Its strong presence in training and simulation and power systems, combined now with an increased capability to participate as a consolidator, are expected to provide multiple opportunities and avenues for growth and enhanced shareholder value."

After service in the U.S. Navy and nearly a decade on Wall Street, Mr. Kutler founded Quarterdeck Investment Partners, Inc., a leading international investment bank focused exclusively on the global aerospace and defense markets.
