Cleartronic Announces License Agreement With Collabria LLC

BOCA RATON, FL -- (Marketwired) -- 08/20/14 -- Cleartronic, Inc. (OTCBB: CLRI) (OTCQB: CLRI), announced today that it has entered into a License Agreement with Collabria LLC, a communications software company based in Tampa, Florida. The agreement grants Cleartronic the right to market, sell and support Collabria's ReadyOp™ - Command, Control and Communication Platform worldwide.

"We have had a strategic relationship with Collabria for the past several years," stated Cleartronic CEO Larry Reid. "We are excited to be able to offer Cleartronic's radio gateways with Collabria's software to market, sell and support a total solution for emergency command and control communications to our customers. Our offerings in airport operations and communications, as well as the other industries we serve, will be enhanced with the integration of our hardware products with Collabria's ReadyOp communications platform."

In a related announcement, Marc Moore, CEO of Collabria LLC, advised, "We have been using Cleartronic's IP Gateways in our client installations for several years, both domestically and overseas. We have worked with the engineers at Cleartronic to provide a true interoperable radio platform for law enforcement, fire, universities and other government agencies at the local, state and federal levels. Our interoperable platform is now in daily operational use in numerous local, statewide and nationwide networks. Incorporating Cleartronic's radio gateways into our ReadyOp communications platform enables us to offer a complete planning, response and communication platform, including true radio interoperability, regardless of the radio type or frequency."
