Cleartronic, Inc. (CLRI) Announces Strategic Relationship With Collabria, LLC

BOCA RATON, FL -- (Marketwired) -- 03/20/14 -- Cleartronic, Inc. (OTCBB: CLRI), announces that it has begun discussions with Collabria, LLC, a Tampa, Florida communication software company, to expand the capabilities of Cleartronic's AudioMate line of IP gateways.

"Collabria has been using the AudioMate gateways as the exclusive gateway for their ReadyOP™ communication software solution for several years," stated Cleartronic CEO Larry Reid. "Both companies believed it was time to re-engineer the AudioMate gateway to provide additional functionality required by Collabria's ReadyOp communications software."

Marc Moore, CEO of Collabria LLC, advised, "We have been using Cleartronic's AudioMate AM360R in our client installations that include connections with two-way radio systems, plus enabling secure two-way communications between radio talk groups, smartphones and laptops. Working together with Cleartronic's engineering team, we intend to make added improvements in the AudioMate hardware line to extend interoperability to other devices and systems.

Management at both CLRI and Collabria believe this collaboration brings synergies to each of their product-lines and operations.
