Arabian American Development Names Dr. Ibrahim A. Al-Moneef to Company's Board of Directors

Next step in creating independent Board of Directors; adds seasoned management, accounting and finance executive with experience both in the U.S. and Saudi Arabia

DALLAS, May 1 /PRNewswire-FirstCall/ -- Arabian American Development Co. (OTC Bulletin Board: ARSD) today announced that Dr. Ibrahim A. Al-Moneef has been named to the Company's Board of Directors. Dr. Al-Moneef will sit on the Board's audit, compensation, and nominating committees. With Dr. Al-Moneef's appointment, the Board is now one-half comprised of independent directors. The Company plans to transition to an independent board by the end of 2007 in its effort to qualify for listing on a major national exchange.

Dr. Al-Moneef has more than 45 years experience as a financial professional. Currently, he serves as owner and chief editor of The Manager Monthly Magazine, a Saudi Business journal. Previously, he served in a variety of positions culminating as President and CEO of Mawarid Group, a company he served for 11 years. Previous roles included President and CEO of ACE Group in Middle East, and President and CEO of Saudi Consolidated Electric Company. Dr. Al-Moneef has earned a Doctor of Business Administration degree from Indiana University, and an MBA from Texas Tech University, completed with honors.

"Adding a true veteran with decades of experience in operations, management, finance and accounting to our Board of Directors significantly strengthens our advisory team and brings us one step closer to achieving our goal of an independent Board," commented Hatem El-Khalidi, President of Arabian American Development Company. "Ibrahim brings experience in industrial settings and unrivaled expertise in accounting and finance to our team, and as we scale our operations in Texas and begin to exploit our mining assets in Saudi Arabia, his experience and advice will prove invaluable. We welcome Dr. Al-Moneef to our team."
