Finjan Holdings Subsidiary Files Patent Infringement Lawsuit Against FireEye

NEW YORK, July 9, 2013 /PRNewswire/ -- Finjan Holdings, Inc. (OTC MKT: FNJN) (the "Company") today announced its subsidiary, Finjan Inc. (Finjan) has filed a patent infringement lawsuit against FireEye, Inc., alleging infringement of Finjan patents relating to endpoint, web, and network security technologies.

The complaint, filed Monday in the U.S. District Court for the Northern District of California, San Jose Division alleges that FireEye's products and services infringe upon six of Finjan's patents. In the complaint, Finjan is seeking undisclosed damages from FireEye.

Recognized internationally as a pioneer and leader in web and network security, Finjan's decade-long investment in innovation is captured in its patent portfolio including more than 40 issued and pending patents with worldwide coverage, centered around software and hardware technologies capable of proactively detecting previously unknown and emerging threats on a real-time, behavior-based basis. Finjan has successfully licensed its patents to five major software and technology companies around the world.

ABOUT FINJAN:

Finjan is a leading online security and technology company which owns a portfolio of patents, related to software that proactively detects malicious code and thereby protects end-users from identity and data theft, spyware, malware, phishing, trojans and other online threats. Founded in 1997, Finjan is one of the first companies to develop and patent technology and software that is capable of detecting previously unknown and emerging threats on a real-time, behavior-based basis, in contrast to signature-based methods of intercepting only known threats to computers, which were previously standard in the online security industry.
