RECENT NEWS

Development of Crypto-currency Blockchain

On December 22, 2017, IEG Holdings announced the formation of a 100%-owned subsidiary, Investment Evolution Crypto, LLC (aka IE Crypto), which will evaluate the feasibility, including the legalities, economic risks and potential benefits) of accepting crypto-currencies (such as bitcoins) as a form of repayment of customer loans. At present, Investment Evolution Crypto remains in the planning stages of exploring this potential business opportunity.

Subsequently, on January 10, 2018, IEG Holdings expanded upon its plan on creating its own crypto/blockchain-currency. IE Crypto explored backing its crypto/blockchain currency with a gold project whose gold resource would back its proposed crypto/blockchain currency. After further investigation, management determined that backing by a gold resource was not necessary.

On February 26, 2018, IEG Holdings announced the signing of blockchain development services contract with Intellectsoft, a LLC that was ranked as "Top Blockchain Developer" in 2018 by Clutch.co (a data-driven company providing ratings and reviews of leading IT, marketing and business services companies, along with custom blockchain development services). Intellectsoft will provide analysis of the business and functional requirements for IEG's crypto/blockchain currency effort as well as market and technical research and an estimation/development plan.

Management plans potentially to use its proposed crypto-currency as a currency with which to used offer loans and accept loan repayments. Management also has indicated that it plans to register its crypto/blockchain currency with the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC). However, upon further investigation, the company no longer plans to use any other crypto-currencies for its loans or loan repayments.

Also, IEG Holdings (through IE Crypto) plans to develop and launch a remittance and loan offering targeting the Overseas Filipino Worker (OFW) market. Every year, US-based and Australia-based Filipino OFWs remit approximately $10 billion to the Philippines.¹ IE Crypto continues to investigate the legalities, economic risks and benefits of its Filipino initiative.

The company's proposed crypto-currency remains in the initial planning stages for the potential development of a crypto-currency utilizing blockchain technology.

Share Repurchase Plan

OVERVIEW

Headquartered in Las Vegas, IEG Holdings Corp. is a consumer finance company that offers unsecured consumer loans (under the brand name "Mr. Amazing Loans") to individuals in 20 states via an online platform (mramazingloans.com). The company provides $5,000 and $10,000 personal consumer loans over a term of five years in Alabama, Arizona, California, Florida, Georgia, Illinois, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, Missouri, Nevada, New Jersey, New Mexico, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Texas, Utah, Virginia and Wisconsin. Investment Evolution Corp (a subsidiary of IEG Holdings) holds state licenses and/or certificates of authority to lend in these 20 states. Over the intermediate-term, management plans to offer loans in 25 states, which would cover approximately 75% of the US population.

IEG Holdings is well positioned for organic growth, leveraging its unique presence in the faster-growing unsecured personal loan market and its concentration on differentiated, higher-margin products. The company's online loan application portal increases the potential to scale operations and enhances margins. Brick-and-mortar businesses add costs, such as rent payments and salaries/wages of branch supervisors/employees.

Through the effective execution of management's business plan, including the online loan origination platform, effective supporting marketing programs and the pursuit of additional state licenses, IEG Holdings has achieved impressive growth of its loan portfolio. The company should benefit from its disciplined underwriting process, which should deliver a high margin loan portfolio with relatively low underwriting credit risk.

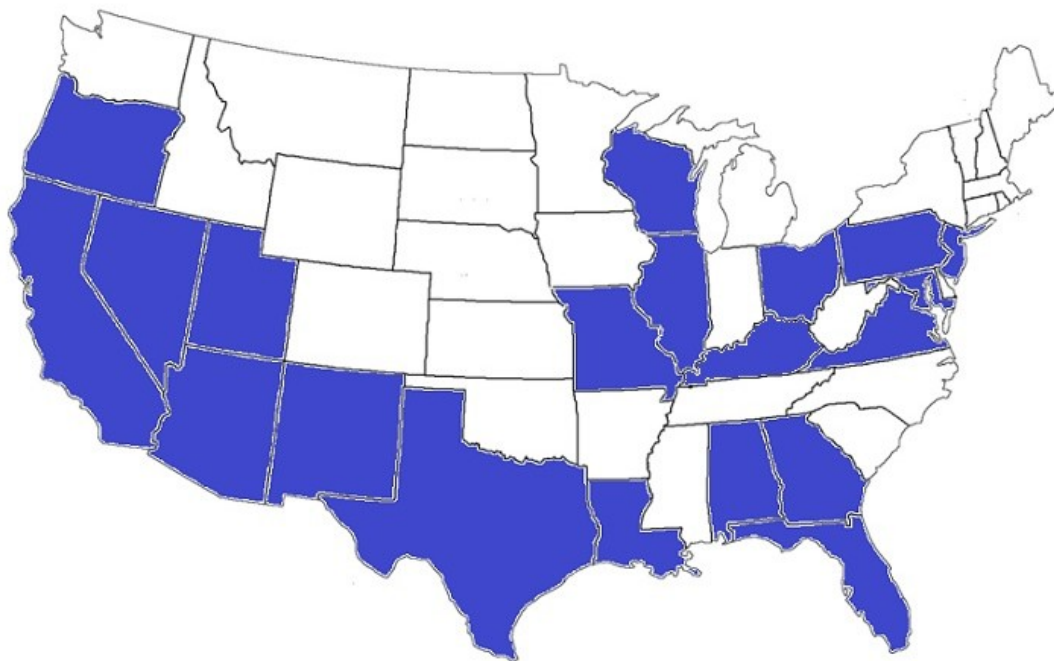

On November 3, 2016, IEG Holdings released an update to the company's corporate strategy. Strategically, CEO Paul Mathieson explored a full range of alternatives for the purpose of increasing stockholders' value. A major step towards becoming profitable is that Paul Mathieson agreed to forgo his 2016 bonus and also entered into a new consulting for 2017 which reduced his annual base compensation from $1.0 million to $1, which reduced operating expenses by 16% until July 1, 2017, when Paul Mathieson's annual base compensation was reinstituted at $1.2 million.

BUSINESS MODEL

The blueprint for IEG's business model had its nascence in Australia, when CEO Paul Mathieson established and grew a similar lending operation between 2005 and 2010 which ultimately lent approximately $48 million to over 11,500 customers. In general, the Australian experience narrowed the target market to reduce the risk profile of the loan portfolio, optimized the product offerings to improve the potential profitability of the loan portfolio and guided the company to low-cost venues of customer acquisition.

IEG specializes in a specific market segment where the company has a competitive advantage, the unsecured personal loan category. Thus far, the company has eschewed other categories of the consumer finance industry, particularly the mortgage, student, auto, home equity, credit card, payday and vehicle title loan products.

Initially, the company provided 3-to-5 year unsecured consumer loans ranging in the $2,000 to $10,000 range, but after years of experience, IEG now concentrates on providing 5-year $5,000 and $10,000 loans, which are the sweet spots that maximize return and minimize potential credit losses. Customer-lead acquisition costs and shorter-term loans (less than 5 years in duration) reduce the economic attributes of underwriting unsecured consumer loans. Also, credit risk significantly increases for loans greater than $10,000.

Geographical Expansion

On June 15, 2010, IEG Holdings received its first installment loan license in the United States and opened its first office on September 1, 2010 in Las Vegas, Nevada. The company expanded to offices in Chicago, Phoenix/Mesa and West Palm Beach. From 2010 to July 2013, IEG provided consumer loans through a branch network, which was comprised of one branch in each state in which the company operated (as required by state licensing regulations). In July 2013, IEG Holdings launched MrAmazingLoans.com, the company's online loan origination platform. Over time, all the branches except the central Las Vegas location were closed. By the end of 2014, IEG was operating online providing loans to residents in 9 states (Nevada, Illinois, Arizona, Florida, Georgia, Missouri, Virginia, New Jersey and Texas). Subsequently, other licenses were granted (see table). Most recently, IEG Holdings began offering loans online to residents of Wisconsin. Currently, IEG Holdings holds licenses in 20 states representing marketplace coverage over 64% of the US population. Over the intermediate-term, management plans to offer loans in 25 states, which would cover approximately 75% of the US population.

Online Loan Origination Platform

IEG's online loan origination website is intuitive and easy to navigate. The application process for pre-approval is simple and can be quickly completed within minutes. Typical purposes for the loans are bill consolidation, home improvements, consumer durable (furniture/appliances) purchases, automobile repairs, medical/dental expenses, tax payments, vacations, etc. The company strives for same-day turnaround from the initial inquiry to cash being delivered to a customer's checking account.

The company operates in the highly fragmented and highly competitive consumer installment lending industry. A critical component of the IEG's online business model requires that traffic be driven to the company's website either through generating awareness among consumers or enhancing visibility via internet search engines. In addition to utilizing search engine optimization (SEO) techniques to ensure that the website appears high on the list of results returned by search engines, IEG employed search engine and commenced banner advertising to direct traffic to the company's website. The company also partnered with lead generators through joint venture arrangements. The online marketing efforts are supplemented with traditional forms of radio, television and direct mail advertising. Today, online and direct mail advertising generates approximately 80% of IEGH's new loan applications while 20% is produced by online lead generators.

Customer Acquisition Costs

IEG's website significantly reduced the company's customer acquisition costs. Not only does IEG benefit from the consumer shift to online services, the company also benefits from lower loan origination costs. Generally, traditional forms of lead generation (radio and television advertising) and the use of a branch network account for 40% to 50% of the total operational expenditure to generate a loan. By utilizing online advertising, direct mail and third-party lead generation to drive applicants to the company's online loan origination platform, IEG has a built-in cost advantage.

Disciplined Consumer Loan Underwriting Process

IEG Holdings targets a specific market segment within the under-banked marketplace of non-prime consumers which better ensures customers have the capacity to repay their loans. Parameters for certain key metrics have been set to determine the applicant's ability to repay the personal loan, including the criteria listed in the table below, which is in the company's investor presentation. The preliminary underwriting benchmarks are based not only on analysis of historical data, but also on the extensive experience of the CEO Paul Mathieson and COO Carla Cholewinski. In addition, during the fourth quarter of 2014, the company refined its loan origination model and began providing only the most lucrative modalities of $5,000 and $10,000 five-year loans at an APR between 12.0% and 29.9%.

Factor	Criteria
Minimum Income (Average ~ $61,500)	$35,000
Debt to Income – Gross	70% max
Housing Expense to Income	42% max
Credit Score Experian Vantage (Average ~653)	600+
Employment	1 yr minimum
Credit History	2 yr minimum
Checking Account	Required

Much of the loan pre-approval process is automated. An applicant provides income, employment and banking information; and the company makes a soft inquiry of the applicant's credit report. Over 90% of applications are rejected during this pre-approval process. If the lead passes the minimum requirements, experienced underwriters obtain a full credit report from Experian (after receiving authorization from the applicant), review of applicant's checking account statements (over the last 60-to-90 days) and verify the applicant's employment, housing costs and debt obligations. Underwriting guidelines also include identity verifications and fraud checks. Usually within hours of completing loan application, electronic loan documents are conveyed to an approved applicant.

As of September 30, 2017, only 1.88% of the loan portfolio is to borrowers defined as subprime (having credit scores below 600).

Loan Delinquency Rate

Generally, unsecured personal loans are associated with higher delinquency rates than prime and secured loans; therefore, since higher loan loss rates are expected, unsecured personal loans carry higher interest rates. The company offers personal loans at the prevailing statutory rates, between 12.0% (Virginia) and 29.9% APR with roughly two-thirds of the states in which IEG operates allowing 29.9%. By underwriting unsecured personal loans at statutory rates to customers who pass the company's stringent guidelines, IEG benefits from a high margin loan portfolio while incurring relatively low underwriting credit risk by having a healthier cushion for potential credit losses. Management adds significant value through the implementation of its disciplined underwriting process.

A key for lenders is to manage loan losses at reasonable levels. Historically, IEG's management has targeted net loss rates of approximately 5% and maintained an allowance for credit losses in the 12.0%- to-12.6% range. Beginning with the fourth quarter of 2016, the target for the allowance for credit losses was raised to 16.0%.

GROWTH DRIVERS

IEG Holdings has developed the enterprise functions to support scalability, including technology-based customer acquisition, risk-controlled loan generation, capital funding and regulatory compliance. The company's business model is expected to drive growth through geographic expansion (through being granted additional state licenses) and underwriting an increasing amount of loans (through a low cost customer acquisition approach and a highly efficient underwriting process). Given the company's track record, we expect IEG Holding to be able to continue finance its businesses expansion through various sources of capital funding.

Loan Book Growth

After IEG Holdings launched the Mr. Amazing Loans online loan origination platform in mid- 2013, loan volumes grew dramatically. In the first year of the online platform's operation (June 30 2013 to June 30, 2014), total cumulative loan originations increased over 450% from $237,000 to approximately $1.32 million. In the second year (June 30 2014 to June 30, 2015), loan originations increased over 580% from to $9.08 million.

The strong growth in loan originations was not only a result of the online platform, but also the successful execution of other growth initiatives. Several effective marketing programs supported the effectiveness of the online application portal, including online advertising, partnering with online lead generators and direct mail advertising. Loan growth was also significantly enhanced by pursuing additional state licenses.

Furthermore, management also positioned the company to address and benefit from certain consumer needs, namely

- 1) IEG focuses on the under-banked marketplace of non-prime consumers requiring affordable credit and
- 2) the company offers a considerably lower cost alternative to payday loans

And of course, management secured funding to maintain and expand operations as well as finance the origination of loans.

However, beginning in the fourth quarter of 2016, concurrent with the implementation of the cost reduction program, the loan book portfolio (loans receivable on a 12-month rolling basis) has been experiencing negative single-digit growth as the advertising budget has contracted from $950,905 in 2015 to a run rate of roughly $7,000 in 2017.

Structural Competitive Advantages

As the company's loan portfolio reaches critical mass, IEG Holding should also benefit from another competitive strength: a lean operational structure. IEG does not have to maintain an extensive brick-and-mortar network of branches and requires fewer personnel than traditional consumer lending companies to make underwriting decisions. By serving multiple states through a centralized office in its Las Vegas headquarters, IEG Holdings will significantly benefit from economies of scale, particularly through low overhead costs as its loan portfolio expands. Also, an online loan origination business has the potential to scale more rapidly than the traditional brick-and-mortar consumer lending operation.

COMMON STOCK EVENTS

Series of Up-listings

The common stock IEG Holdings has undergone a series of up-listings since 2013. Generally, an up-listing benefits a company through better institutional investor awareness and increased share liquidity.

On November 29, 2013, IEG Holdings Corporation was upgraded from the OTC Pink sheets to the highest tier in the OTC Pink Markets, OTC Pink Current Information. In June 2015, IEGH was up-listed to the OTCQB Venture Market after a 1-for-100 reverse stock split. On March 7, 2016, IEG Holdings was upgraded to the OTCQX Best market; however, with the resignation of two directors on November 3, 2016 that resulted in Paul Mathieson becoming the sole Director, IEGH was moved back to the OTCQB Venture Market on January 1, 2017.

Reverse-splits

On March 14, 2013, Investment Evolution Global Corporation consummated a reverse merger transaction with IEG Holdings Corporation. Per the terms of the reverse merger, 90,815.71 shares of IEGH were received for each share of Investment Evolution Global. Immediately prior to the reverse merger, IEGH completed a 1-for-6 reverse stock split. As a result, shareholder of Investment Evolution Global owned approximately 99.1% of IEGH immediately after the transaction.

On June 17, 2015, the company completed a 1-for-100 reverse split, which had been just preceded by IEGH being upgraded to the OTCQB.

On October 17, 2016, IEG Holdings Corporation completed a 1-for-1,000 reverse stock split, immediately followed by a 100-for-1 forward stock split. The net effect of the actions was to reduce the number of common shares by a factor of 10 (similar to a 1-for-10 reverse stock split) while also consolidating the number of stockholders.

FUNDING

Since 2012, IEG Holdings has funded loan originations in the United States with debt facilities (aka credit lines) and equity capital, both common and preferred. Currently, the company is attempting to raise capital through a private offering of up to $10 million of 10-year 12% unsecured notes.

Beginning in 2012, a $3.0 million senior credit line facility was extended to IEG Holdings from the Boston Finance Group (subsequently known as BFG Investment Holdings, LLC). With an effective interest rate of 18% and a minimum advance of $200,000, by the end of 2012, the company has utilized $250,000 of the revolving credit facility. Following the launch of the company's online loan originations platform in mid-June 2013, the $3.0 million facility was replaced by a new $10.0 million senior debt facility in November 2013. Also from the Boston Finance Group, the effective interest rate remained 18% but the minimum advance amount was lowered to $25,000. In addition, during 2013 and 2014, the company incurred various small, short-term working capital loans (between $220,000 and $60,000), which were repaid in short order.

On July 15, 2015, BFG Investment Holdings converted the revolving credit facility to a term loan. IEG Holdings paid off the $2.23 million balance of the facility in August 2015 using part of the $6.1 million in proceeds from issuing various series of preferred stock and $4.58 million from the issuance of common stock during 2015. At the end of 2015, the company had no long-term debt.

During 2016, stock offerings provided $3,728,686 in net proceeds while the issuance of preferred shares supplied $246,000. Net proceeds were used primarily to fund new loan originations and general corporate purposes.

Through the third quarter of 2017, IEG Holdings received $3,400,106 through the sale of the 151,994 shares of OneMain Holding (OMF) stock the company accepted in a tender offer. In addition, between October 30th and December 28th, IEG Holdings issued 1,292,089 shares of Series H preferred stock, which provided gross proceeds of $1,292,089.

VALUATION

Consumer lending companies fall into several business line categories: traditional lenders (secured loans), marketplace lenders, credit card issuers, educational finance companies, payday lenders, middle market commercial lenders, non-prime consumer loans, etc. Even though IEG's direct competitors in the state-licensed, personal loan space are companies like OneMain Financial (OMF) and World Acceptance Corporation (WRLD), the company is in a unique life cycle position. IEG Holdings has exhibited dramatic loan book growth and is on the verge of positive operating cash flow and profitability.

Larger, profitable lenders tend to trade at low P/S ratios usually in the 0.7 and 2.1 times revenues; however, higher growth potential marketplace lenders are trading in a higher range (3.4 to 12.3 times revenues). Marketplace lending category is composed of companies that provide an online marketplace where investors and borrowers can connect. The companies offer a technology-based platform that automates the borrower application process and provides loan servicing, and at the same time provides analytical tools that enable investors to decide whether to add the loan to their portfolios.

IEG Holdings is still in an early phase of its life cycle with loan originations volume on a high growth trajectory over a multi-year period. The company should trade at a much higher multiple reflecting the company's potential. It is difficult to find a comparable lending company today with revenues in the $2-to-$3 million range with the same upside potential as IEG Holdings. However, in the past, LendingClub (LC), Main Street Capital (MAIN), Manhattan Bridge Capital (LOAN) and NewStar Financial (NEWS) were in roughly the same position as lenders with a particular focus but with significant loan portfolio growth potential. These stocks all attained Price-to-Sales valuation levels over 9.0 times and one as high as 51.8 times.

Utilizing annual revenues of $3.57 million, which we expect the company to attain organically by 2022, and with the expectation that IEG Holding stock can attain a P/S ratio of 9.1 at that time, the share price target would be $1.53 at the end of 2022. However, to translate that value to a current target price, we employ a net present value (NPV) calculation with a 5.5% discount rate. This valuation methodology indicates a price target of $1.20 for IEGH.

RISKS

- Even though the personal loan market presents an opportunity for significant growth, the consumer installment lending industry is a highly competitive and highly fragmented. Competitive reactions by both established players and newcomers could diminish the effect of the company's uniquely focused loan offerings which are provided on its online loan origination platform. In addition, other disruptive FinTech products, particularly online marketplace platforms, are impacting the competitive landscape of the unsecured consumer installment loan space.
- Although the U.S. consumer credit market is currently reasonably healthy, unfavorable changes in the macroeconomic environment may negatively impact consumer lenders, both in terms of lower availability of qualified loan applicants and higher credit risk on the existing loan portfolio.
- Until the company achieves profitability, additional capital will be needed to fund operations and loan originations. Thus far, management has been very successful in obtaining capital through equity (both common and preferred) and debt offerings.
- CEO Paul Mathieson controls a 39.5% of the outstanding shares. In addition, he is the sole Director.

INSIDER TRADING AND OWNERSHIP

- As of December 31, 2017, IEG's founder and CEO, Paul Mathieson beneficially owned 6,900,000 common shares representing 39.5% of the shares outstanding. COO Carla Cholewinski owned 2,000 shares. CEO Paul Mathieson is no longer a majority stockholder, not due to any stock sales but due solely to the issuance of common stock.
