Maintech Achieves ISO 9001:2008 Certification

CRANFORD, N.J.--(BUSINESS WIRE)-- Maintech, a leading IT Infrastructure Support Services provider, announced that they have achieved certification for the ISO 9001:2008 quality standard. After completing independent audits, Maintech was recommended for the ISO 9001:2008 certification in the "IT Infrastructure Support Services" category.

ISO 9001:2008 is an internationally recognized standard for business Quality Management Systems (QMS) that focuses on continuous improvement as a means to increase client satisfaction. The audit provides a meticulous framework for instituting and optimizing processes that help improve company efficiency, minimize risk, and maximize opportunity.

Bill Rudowitz, Maintech's Director of Quality, commented, "The process of having our Quality Management System certified reinforces what has always been a guiding principle at Maintech: delivering quality service is priority #1. We will continue to use this framework to improve our processes as we work to continually enhance our service delivery capabilities."

Frank D'Alessio, Maintech's President, further commented that "Maintech's prime mission is delivering its ISS programs to the most demanding clients in the global marketplace. In such markets, quality in all facets of the client/vendor relationship is an imperative, and achieving this ISO 9001:2008 certification gives our clients and partners an additional measure of confidence in choosing Maintech."
