Arotech Training and Simulation Division Receives $2.9M In Awards From U.S. Department of State for FAAC Police Driving Simulators and MILO Theater Systems

ANN ARBOR, Mich., March 20, 2019 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Arotech Corporation’s [NasdaqGM: ARTX] Training and Simulation Division (ATSD) announced that it has received $2.9M in orders from its U.S. Department of State Indefinite Delivery, Indefinite Quantity contract vehicle. Orders year-to-date include twelve FAAC police driving simulators slated for delivery to Mexico and four MILO Theater systems for delivery to Pakistan and Honduras.

“We are pleased to continue our support of Department of State’s international training initiatives,” said Kurt Flosky, President of ATSD. “ATSD is uniquely qualified to support Department of State’s global law enforcement training initiatives, bringing to bear both our world-class FAAC police driving simulators and MILO Theater judgment-skills systems to provide our allied countries advanced training capabilities.”

About Arotech’s Training and Simulation Division
Arotech’s Training and Simulation Division (ATSD) provides world-class simulation based solutions. ATSD develops, manufactures, and markets advanced high-tech multimedia and interactive digital solutions for engineering, use-of-force, and operator training simulations for military, law enforcement, security, municipal and private industry personnel. The division’s fully interactive operator training systems feature state-of-the-art vehicle simulator technology enabling training in situation awareness, risk analysis and decision-making, emergency reaction and avoidance procedures, conscientious equipment operation, and crew coordination. The division’s use-of-force training products and services allow organizations to train their personnel in safe, productive, and realistic environments. The division supplies pilot decision-making support software for the F-15, F-16, F-18, F-22, and F-35 aircraft, simulation models for the ACMI/TACTS air combat training ranges, and Air-Refueling Boom Arm simulators. The division also provides consulting and developmental support for engineering and research simulation solutions.

Arotech’s Training and Simulation Division consists of FAAC Incorporated (www.faac.com), MILO Range Training Systems (www.milorange.com), and Realtime Technologies (www.simcreator.com).
