ShotSpotter Names Nasim Golzadeh Senior Vice President of Customer Support and Professional Services

Public Safety Expert Joins Gunshot Detection Leader to Scale Company's Professional Services Business

NEWARK, Calif., Feb. 26, 2019 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- ShotSpotter, Inc. (Nasdaq: SSTI), the leader in gunshot detection solutions that help law enforcement officials identify, locate and deter gun violence, today announced the appointment of Nasim Golzadeh to the position of Senior Vice President, Customer Support and Professional Services – part of the company's executive management team. With more than 13 years in key leadership positions at CentralSquare Technologies (formerly TriTech Software Systems), an industry leader in public safety and public administration software, Golzadeh most recently served as its Vice President of Operations and Professional Services.

Golzadeh brings public safety, support and professional services experience to her new role. She will be responsible for the company's technical support operations and Incident Review Center, as well as professional services, including forensic services, data integration services, and training. Golzadeh joins ShotSpotter at a time the company is undertaking new strategies to add more value for its customers and better monetize its growing suite of professional services.

"Nasim brings the veteran leadership we need to help us professionalize, scale and structure our professional services and support organization," said Ralph Clark, president and CEO of ShotSpotter. "We believe she will be a tremendous asset to our executive team, helping us enhance and expand the service solutions we offer to our law enforcement customers to help them reduce and solve crimes, and make their communities safer."

Earlier in her career, Golzadeh held IT management positions with First American Corp. and National University. She earned her B.S. degree from the University of Tehran, her M.S. degree from National University and her M.B.A. from the University of California, San Diego.
