Arotech Training And Simulation Division Announces $7.4 Million In New Orders

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Jan. 13, 2016 /PRNewswire/ -- Arotech Corporation [Nasdaq GM: ARTX] announced that its Training and Simulation Division (ATSD) has received $7.4 million in new awards and contract modifications. These funded orders are highlighted by a $1.7 million modification to increase the capabilities of the US Army's Virtual Clearance Training Suites (VCTS) and over $1 million in orders for its transit and public safety driving simulators.

"We continue to evolve and expand the capabilities our current products while innovating new solutions," commented Kurt Flosky, Arotech Training and Simulation Division President. "These awards demonstrate our ability to support the expanding training and simulation needs of our current users while we successfully add new clients."

"Arotech continues to benefit from the performance of its Training and Simulation division, which provides a solid foundation to support our corporate growth strategy," commented Steven Esses, Arotech President and CEO.

About Arotech's Training and Simulation Division

Arotech's Training and Simulation Division (ATSD) provides world-class simulation based solutions. ATSD develops, manufactures, and markets advanced high-tech multimedia and interactive digital solutions for engineering, use-of-force, and operator training simulations for military, law enforcement, security, municipal and private industry personnel. The division's fully interactive operator training systems feature state-of-the-art vehicle simulator technology enabling training in situation awareness, risk analysis and decision-making, emergency reaction and avoidance procedures, conscientious equipment operation, and crew coordination. The division's use-of-force training products and services allow organizations to train their personnel in safe, productive, and realistic environments. The division supplies pilot decision-making support software for the F-15, F-16, F-18, F-22, and F-35 aircraft, simulation models for the ACMI/TACTS air combat training ranges, and Air-Refueling Boom Arm simulators. The division also provides consulting and developmental support for engineering and research simulation solutions.

Arotech's Training and Simulation Division consists of FAAC Incorporated (www.faac.com), MILO Range Training Systems (www.milorange.com), and Realtime Technologies (www.simcreator.com).
