With less pain and less medication, patients can stimulate the body's natural response to healing much quicker."

"With the opioid epidemic being so far-reaching, we believe SofPulse™ brand is an alternative that can be widely used. Our ongoing efforts have been very positive when speaking to clinicians and patients. I am pleased with our accomplishments throughout 2018 and believe in having secured Intellectual Property protection for WOUNDPULSE™ brand we can implement a strategic sales and marketing campaign. We continue to expand our relationships with our current distributors and in discussions with prospective partners. We are also building an internal sales team that can focus its efforts on hospitals, cosmetic surgery centers, physicians and surgeons.
