Merger Agreement with NeuBase

On January 3, 2019, Ohr announced entering into a definitive merger agreement with NeuBase under which the stockholders of NeuBase would become the majority holders of the combined company. The proposed merger will create a public company focused on advancing NeuBase's peptide-nucleic acid (PNA) antisense oligonucleotide (PATrOL™) technology platform for the development of therapies to address severe and currently untreatable diseases caused by genetic mutations. The proposed merger has been approved by the board of directors of both companies.

On a pro forma basis and based upon the number of shares of Ohr common stock to be issued in the merger, current Ohr stockholders will own approximately 15% of the combined company and NeuBase stockholders will own approximately 85% of the combined company, after accounting for the additional NeuBase financing transaction. The actual allocation will be subject to adjustment based on Ohr's and NeuBase's cash balance at the time of closing and the amount of the additional financing consummated by NeuBase at or before the closing of the proposed merger. Certain members and affiliates of the board of directors and management of Ohr and NeuBase have irrevocably committed to invest in the additional NeuBase financing.

The proposed merger is subject to the approval of Ohr's stockholders and the satisfaction or waiver of other customary conditions. In connection with the proposed merger, Ohr recently filed with the SEC a pre-effective amendment to its registration statement on Form S-4, which included a joint proxy statement/prospectus.
