Management Commentary

“Second quarter of 2018 was another strong period for ShotSpotter, marking our sixth consecutive quarter of revenue growth over 35% for the company,” said Ralph Clark, CEO of ShotSpotter. “Our record topline, which was up 53% year-over-year, was driven by continued expansion with new and existing customers, who are leveraging our data-driven policing technology to more effectively deter and prevent gun violence. During the second quarter we went live with initial deployments in two new cities and one new campus, expanded coverage in four existing cities, and turned on 61 net new ‘go-live’ miles, ending the quarter with 583 miles live. We are grateful to partner with agencies and help them better provide equal protection to all communities and thus reduce gun violence.”

Second Quarter 2018 Financial Results

Revenues for the second quarter of 2018 increased 53% to a record $8.9 million from $5.8 million for the same period in 2017. The increase in revenues was due to growth in the number of miles covered, which was driven by expanded deployments for current customers as well as the addition of new customers.

Gross profit for the second quarter of 2018 was $5.0 million (56% of revenues), a 61% increase from $3.1 million (54% of revenues) for the same period in 2017. Second quarter of 2018 gross margin was negatively impacted by a write-off of three contracts related to indoor deployments as a result of the company's decision to no longer directly provide an indoor solution as part of its service offering. The company is evaluating the disposition of the remaining sensor inventory related to its indoor sensor business.

Total operating expenses in the second quarter of 2018 increased 61% to $5.3 million from $3.3 million in the same period last year. The increase in operating expenses was due primarily to the company's higher headcount, particularly in sales and marketing, as the company continued to expand its international sales efforts and customer success initiatives.

Net loss totaled $370,000, or $0.03 per share (based on 10.6 million basic and diluted weighted average shares outstanding). This was an improvement from net loss of $4.3 million, or $1.16 per share (based on 3.7 million basic and diluted weighted average shares outstanding), for the same period in 2017.

Adjusted EBITDA (Earnings before interest expense, taxes, depreciation, amortization and stock-based compensation) for the second quarter of 2018 totaled $1.2 million, compared to a loss of $3.1 million in the same period last year.

As of June 30, 2018, the company had cash, cash equivalents and restricted cash of $14.9 million, which was up slightly from $14.7 million at the end of the previous quarter. The company remained debt free.

Financial Outlook

For the full year of 2018, the company is tightening its revenue outlook to $33.5 million to $34.0 million, up from the company's prior guidance of $33.0 to $34.0 million. Additionally, the company reaffirms its commitment to achieve the Company's first quarter of GAAP profitability by the fourth quarter of 2018.

The company's financial outlook statements are based on current expectations. The following statements are forward-looking, and actual results could differ materially depending on market conditions and the factors set forth under "Safe Harbor Statement" below.

Non-GAAP Financial Measures

Adjusted EBITDA. ShotSpotter discloses the following non-GAAP financial measure in this release and the earnings call referencing this press release: Adjusted EBITDA, which represents the company's net loss before interest (expense) income, income taxes, depreciation and amortization and stock-based compensation expense. Adjusted EBITDA is a measure used by management internally to understand and evaluate the company's core operating performance and trends across accounting periods and in connection with developing future operating plans, making strategic decisions regarding the allocation of capital and considering initiatives focused on cultivating new markets for our solutions. In particular, the exclusion of these expenses in calculating adjusted EBITDA facilitates comparisons of the company's operating performance on a period-to-period basis.

ShotSpotter believes adjusted EBITDA also provides useful information to investors and others in understanding and evaluating our operating results in the same manner as our management and board of directors. For example, ShotSpotter adjusts EBITDA for stock-based compensation expense because that expense often varies for reasons that are generally unrelated to financial and operational performance in any particular period. Stock-based compensation is utilized by ShotSpotter to attract and retain employees with a goal of long-term retention and the alignment of employee interests with those of the Company and its stockholders, rather than to address operational performance for any particular period.

Adjusted EBITDA is not a measure calculated in accordance with GAAP. Accordingly, use of adjusted EBITDA has limitations as an analytical tool, and you should not consider it in isolation or as a substitute for analysis of ShotSpotter's financial results as reported under GAAP. Some of these limitations are: (1) adjusted EBITDA does not reflect the potentially dilutive impact of equity-based compensation; and (2) other companies, including companies in our industry, may calculate adjusted EBITDA or similarly titled measures differently, which reduces the usefulness of the metric as a comparative measure. Because of these and other limitations, you should consider adjusted EBITDA alongside our GAAP-based financial performance measures, in particular net loss, and our other GAAP financial results.

The following table presents a reconciliation of adjusted EBITDA to net loss, the most directly comparable GAAP measure, for each of the periods indicated:
