Tonix Pharmaceuticals Partners With the American Chronic Pain Association to Help Raise Awareness About Fibromyalgia

NEW YORK, NY -- (Marketwired) -- 10/24/13 -- Tonix Pharmaceuticals Holding Corp. (NASDAQ: TNXP), a development stage specialty pharmaceutical company, has become a corporate partner of the American Chronic Pain Association (ACPA) as part of its efforts to help raise awareness about fibromyalgia.

"The American Chronic Pain Association is dedicated to updating the public regarding the research and treatment for chronic pain in its many forms," said Seth Lederman, M.D., CEO and President of Tonix. "Fibromyalgia is believed to affect approximately five million people in the U.S., and this syndrome is increasingly identified in people who suffer chronic pain. We are confident that this partnership will continue to bring greater recognition to fibromyalgia and provide an opportunity to report Tonix's clinical progress to those who may need it most."

Tonix is currently developing TNX-102 SL, its lead clinical candidate for the treatment of fibromyalgia and post-traumatic stress disorder. The Company recently announced the initiation of its BEdtime Sublingual TNX-102 SL as Fibromyalgia Intervention Therapy (BESTFIT) clinical trial, which is the first of two anticipated pivotal trials for TNX-102 SL 2.8 mg tablets in patients with fibromyalgia.

"We continue to strive to provide the best possible support, education in pain management skills, and resources to those who experience chronic pain in whatever form it takes," said Penney Cowan, Executive Director and Founder of the ACPA. "Partnerships with companies such as Tonix provide us with an important opportunity to inform consumers about the many elements of multidisciplinary pain management so that they may regain a sense of control in their lives and hope for their future."

In April of this year, the United States Food and Drug Administration (FDA) selected fibromyalgia as a disease on which to focus for the next two fiscal years. The FDA will be conducting a public meeting on December 10, 2013 under Patient-Focused Drug Development, an initiative that involves obtaining a better understanding of patients' perspectives on the severity of the disease and the available therapies for the condition. These activities demonstrate an increased awareness of fibromyalgia and its impact among the U.S. population.

About the American Chronic Pain Association

The American Chronic Pain Association was founded in 1980 by Penney Cowan in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. After many years of living with chronic pain, Penney had taken part in the pain management program at the Cleveland Clinic and was eager to maintain the skills she had learned there when she returned to her daily life.

Penney placed a notice in her church bulletin and soon found others whose lives were compromised by ongoing pain. They began meeting as the first ACPA support group. This one small group quickly became many. Unable to be personally involved with every group, Penney developed the first of the ACPA's manuals and other materials so that others could learn and maintain the skills that had been so important to maintaining her wellness.

Today several hundred ACPA support groups meet across the U.S. and in Canada, Great Britain, and many other countries. The ACPA's unique materials are a primary resource for individuals seeking to improve the quality of their lives and for the professionals who help them. To learn more, please visit www.theacpa.org.
