Antero Midstream Partners Announces 2019 Capital Budget and Guidance

DENVER, Jan. 8, 2019 /PRNewswire/ -- Antero Midstream Partners LP (NYSE: AM) ("Antero Midstream Partners" or "the Partnership") today announced its 2019 capital budget and guidance. The dividend and DCF coverage ratio guidance included in this release assumes the simplification transaction between Antero Midstream Partners and Antero Midstream GP LP (NYSE: AMGP) ("AMGP"), pursuant to which Antero Midstream Partners will become an indirect, wholly owned subsidiary of Antero Midstream Corporation ("New AM" or "Antero Midstream"), closes during the first quarter of 2019, consistent with prior expectations. New AM will be the surviving publicly-traded midstream vehicle and will be listed on the New York Stock Exchange under the ticker symbol "AM".

New AM 2019 Capital Budget and Guidance Highlights:

- Forecasting net income of $475 million to $525 million in 2019
- Forecasting Adjusted EBITDA of $870 to $920 million in 2019
- Forecasting distributable cash flow of $680 to $730 million, resulting in 1.1x to 1.2x annual DCF coverage
- 2019 dividend of $1.23 to $1.25 per share, representing 36% to 38% growth compared to status quo Antero Midstream Partners 2018 distribution guidance, assuming AM unitholders receive 100% equity in the simplification transaction, based on current trading levels <sup>(1)</sup>
  - Represents 128% to 131% growth compared to AMGP 2018 distribution guidance
- Capital budget of $750 to $800 million, including $710 million of expansion capital and $65 million of maintenance capital at the midpoint of the range
- Flexible just-in-time organic project backlog of $2.0 billion through 2022
- No equity issuance needed to fund capital expenditures from 2019 through 2022
- Guidance supported by Antero Resources' 2019 consolidated drilling and completion capital budget of $1.1 to $1.25 billion, resulting in net production growth guidance of 17% to 20% with approximately 115 to 120 completions

- Targeting DCF growth at compound annual growth rates of 18% to 25% from 2020 to 2022

(1) Based on the agreed exchange ratio of 1.635 shares of AMGP and $3.415 cash consideration per AM public unit. Assuming a mixed election, cash consideration is assumed to be reinvested into New AM shares at AMGP's closing price of $13.01 per share as of January 7, 2019.

Commenting on Antero Midstream's guidance, Paul Rady, Antero Midstream's CEO, said, "As a result of Antero Resources' double digit production growth guidance in 2019 and the assumed closing of our midstream simplification transaction, Antero Midstream expects to deliver peer-leading dividend growth of 37% in 2019 while maintaining DCF coverage in the 1.1x to 1.2x range. Antero Midstream will continue to invest "just-in-time" capital generating attractive rates of return and supporting the continued production growth of Antero Resources."

For a discussion of the non-GAAP financial measures Adjusted EBITDA and Distributable Cash Flow, please see "Non-GAAP Financial Measures."

The guidance and long-term outlook outlined herein reflects changes, and in some cases reductions, from information previously provided by the Partnership and AMGP in connection with the proposed simplification transaction to reflect the effects of changes in Antero Resources' 2019 drilling and completion capital budget in response to recent oil and NGL price declines and AR's long-term outlook.

2019 Guidance

Antero Midstream expects net income of $475 million to $525 million, Adjusted EBITDA of $870 million to $920 million and Distributable Cash Flow of $680 million to $730 million for 2019. New AM's 2019 guidance includes approximately $90 million of distributions from its interests in the processing and fractionation joint venture with an affiliate of MPLX, LP (the "Joint Venture") and in Stonewall Gathering LLC. As a result of the delay of full in-service capabilities at the Antero Clearwater Facility, Antero Midstream has risked the Adjusted EBITDA contribution from the Antero Clearwater Facility to $15 to $20 million in 2019 based on the assumption of treating approximately 25,000 Bbl/d in early 2019 increasing to 40,000 Bbl/d throughout the year.

New AM is forecasting a dividend of $1.23 to $1.25 per share in 2019, resulting in a DCF coverage ratio of 1.1x to 1.2x on an annual basis. This dividend per share range reflects growth of 128% to 131% from the midpoint of AMGP's 2018 distribution guidance and 36% to 38% growth compared to the midpoint of Antero Midstream Partners' 2018 distribution guidance, assuming AM unitholders receive 100% equity in the simplification transaction or unitholders receive mixed consideration and reinvest their cash in New AM units. Antero Midstream's 2019 guidance excludes any impact from potential third-party volumes or transactions, consistent with prior guidance.

Below is a summary of Antero Midstream's 2019 guidance:

	Low	—	High
Net Income ($MM)	$475	—	$525
Adjusted EBITDA ($MM)	$870	—	$920
Distributable Cash Flow ($MM)	$680	—	$730
Dividend Per Share	$1.23	—	$1.25
DCF Coverage Ratio	1.1x	—	1.2x

Antero Midstream 2019 Capital Budget

During 2019, Antero Midstream plans to expand its existing Marcellus and Ohio Utica Shale gathering, compression and fresh water delivery systems, and the processing and fractionation capabilities of the Joint Venture, to accommodate Antero Resources' development program. Today in a separate news release, Antero Resources announced its 2019 consolidated drilling and completion capital budget of $1.1 to $1.25 billion, which is forecast to generate production growth of approximately 17% to 20% over 2018 production guidance. Antero Resources' release can be found at www.anteroresources.com.

Antero Midstream has budgeted a 2019 capital investment of $750 million to $800 million, including $710 million in expansion capital and $65 million in maintenance capital, respectively, at the midpoint of the range. The capital budget includes approximately $400 million of investment in gathering and compression infrastructure primarily in the Marcellus Shale in West Virginia to support production growth in the liquids-rich regime. Antero Midstream has budgeted an investment of $135 million for fresh water delivery infrastructure, including expansion capital for an additional withdrawal point and associated trunklines to support Antero Resources' development in Tyler and Wetzel Counties, West Virginia.

Also included in the budget is an investment of $200 million for its 50% interest in the Joint Venture, primarily for the construction of two additional processing plants adding an additional 400 MMcf/d of processing capacity. The 2019 Joint Venture budget also includes the election to participate in the Hopedale 4 Fractionation Plant adding an additional 20,000 Bbl/d of capacity, originally budgeted for 2018. Antero Midstream's budget also includes approximately $35 million for the final milestone payments related to the completion of Antero Clearwater Facility initially budgeted for 2018. Antero Midstream expects to fund all 2019 capital expenditures through cash flow from operations and available borrowing capacity under its existing $2.0 billion bank credit facility.

Antero Midstream Long-term Outlook

Antero Resources intends to continue to focus its development on Antero Midstream-dedicated acreage and has a clear path to compound annual production growth ("CAGR") of 10% to 15% from 2020 to 2023. Antero Resources' activity level and production growth will vary on an annual basis depending on natural gas, oil and NGL prices with the objective of maintaining stand-alone drilling and completion capital spending within stand-alone adjusted operating cash flow and maintaining a strong balance sheet. The strength of Antero Resources will ultimately support growth at New AM following the completion of the simplification transaction. Assuming flat $50 per barrel WTI oil prices and $2.85 per MMBtu NYMEX natural gas prices from 2020 through 2023, Antero Resources expects to grow production at the lower end of the production growth range. Assuming Wall Street analyst consensus commodity pricing of flat $65 per barrel WTI oil and $3.15 per MMBtu NYMEX natural gas prices from 2020 through 2023, Antero Resources expects to grow production at the high end of its production growth range.

Based on Antero Resources' long-term outlook, New AM is targeting DCF growth at a CAGR range of 18% to 25% from 2020 to 2022. In addition, New AM expects a declining leverage profile into the mid 2x Net Debt to Adjusted EBITDA range by 2022. To the extent Antero's production growth is at the higher end of its long-term outlook, New AM's DCF CAGR is expected to be at the higher end of this range. Conversely, to the extent Antero's production growth is at the lower end of its long-term outlook, New AM's DCF CAGR is expected to be at the lower end of this range. This DCF growth and declining leverage profile has the ability to support the dividend growth targets previously communicated by Antero Midstream at the announcement of the simplification transaction, with reduced DCF coverage in the range of 1.0x to 1.2x over the corresponding period based on the DCF ranges. The actual DCF coverage and amount of future midstream dividends will be determined by New AM's board of directors based on market conditions and Antero Resources' development plan at that time.

Non-GAAP Financial Measures and Definitions

Antero Midstream uses Adjusted EBITDA as an important indicator of performance. Antero Midstream defines Adjusted EBITDA as net income before interest expense, impairment expense, gain on sale of assets, depreciation expense, accretion, equity-based compensation expense, excluding equity in earnings of unconsolidated affiliates and including cash distributions from unconsolidated affiliates.

Antero Midstream uses Adjusted EBITDA to assess:

- the financial performance of its assets, without regard to financing methods, capital structure or historical cost basis;
- its operating performance and return on capital as compared to other publicly traded partnerships in the midstream energy sector, without regard to financing or capital structure; and
- the viability of acquisitions and other capital expenditure projects.

Antero Midstream defines Distributable Cash Flow as Adjusted EBITDA less interest paid, income tax withholding payments and cash reserved for payments of income tax withholding upon vesting of equity-based compensation awards, cash reserved for bond interest and ongoing maintenance capital expenditures paid. Antero Midstream uses Distributable Cash Flow as a performance metric to compare the cash generating performance of Antero Midstream from period to period and to compare the cash generating performance for specific periods to the cash distributions (if any) that are expected to be paid to unitholders. Distributable Cash Flow does not reflect changes in working capital balances.

Adjusted EBITDA and Distributable Cash Flow are non-GAAP financial measures. The GAAP measure most directly comparable to Adjusted EBITDA and Distributable Cash Flow is Net Income. The non-GAAP financial measures of Adjusted EBITDA and Distributable Cash Flow should not be considered as alternatives to the GAAP measure of Net Income. Adjusted EBITDA and Distributable Cash Flow are not presentations made in accordance with GAAP and have important limitations as an analytical tool because they include some, but not all, items that affect Net Income and Adjusted EBITDA. You should not consider Adjusted EBITDA and Distributable Cash Flow in isolation or as a substitute for analyses of results as reported under GAAP. Antero Midstream's definition of Adjusted EBITDA and Distributable Cash Flow may not be comparable to similarly titled measures of other partnerships.

Antero Midstream has not included a reconciliation of Adjusted EBITDA and Distributable Cash Flow to the nearest GAAP financial measure for 2019 because it cannot do so without unreasonable effort and any attempt to do so would be inherently imprecise. Antero Midstream is able to forecast the following reconciling items between Adjusted EBITDA and Distributable Cash Flow and net income (in thousands):

	Twelve Months Ending December 31, 2019
	Low	High
Depreciation expense	$ 180,000	— $ 185,000
Equity based compensation expense	48,000	— 52,000
Equity in earnings of unconsolidated affiliates	68,000	— 73,000
Distributions from unconsolidated affiliates	87,000	92,000

Antero Midstream cannot forecast interest expense due to the timing and uncertainty of debt issuances and associated interest rates. Additionally, Antero Midstream cannot reasonably forecast impairment expense as it is driven by a number of factors that will be determined in the future and are beyond Antero Midstream's control.
