CV Sciences, Inc. Partners with the Rodale Institute on Organic and Industrial Hemp Research, Joining Patagonia and Dr. Bronner's

LAS VEGAS, Oct. 16, 2018 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- CV Sciences, Inc., (OTCQB: CVSI) preeminent supplier and manufacturer of industry leading hemp extract brand, PlusCBD Oil™, announces that the Company is now sponsoring Rodale Institute's research on organic hemp farming alongside industry leaders Patagonia and Dr. Bronner's. The Rodale Institute is the nation's leading organic farming institution, dedicated to pioneering organic farming through research and outreach.

Since 2014, CV Sciences has pioneered the hemp industry through research and development affiliations with the University of Kentucky and Murray State University, amongst others. The Company continues to invest and support the promising future of agricultural hemp in the United States and this partnership with the Rodale Institute demonstrates our continued commitment to expanding scientific research in hemp agriculture.

Joseph Dowling, Chief Executive Officer at CV Sciences, states, "We are thrilled to expand our robust support of hemp farming research throughout the United States to increase organic production of hemp with such a forward-thinking organization like the Rodale Institute. We believe that hemp can play a large role in the future of agriculture and look forward to working with Rodale to further organic hemp production."

"We appreciate the support of CV Sciences as we explore hemp's role in soil health," said Jeff Moyer, Executive Director of the Rodale Institute. "We know that healthy soil equals healthy food equals healthy people and a healthy planet. Having a partner like CV Sciences allows us to have a much larger impact."
