Endonovo Therapeutics Signs Distribution Agreement For National Distribution of Sofpulse® Electroceutical™ System

LOS ANGELES, CA, Aug. 14, 2018 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Endonovo Therapeutics, Inc. (OTCQB: ENDV) ("Endonovo" or the "Company"), a commercial-stage developer of Electroceutical™ Therapies, today announced a distribution agreement with Magniant, LLC ("Magniant") for the distribution of SofPulse®, its non-invasive Electroceutical™ Therapy for post-operative pain relief and reduction of swelling. The agreement with Magniant includes sales, marketing and distribution targeting the VA, DOD, Indian Health Services, Long Term Care Institutions, Pain Clinics, Wound Clinics and Private Practices among physicians.

Alan Collier, Endonovo Chief Executive Officer, stated, "We are thrilled to partner with Magniant, an established firm with significant health industry experience, in depth knowledge of product launches and, more importantly, relationships with healthcare professionals and facilities throughout the United States. In addition to a professional, accountable team of commission-based representatives, Magniant delivers meaningful senior leadership in the areas of Supply Chain, FP&A, Operations and Logistics, Marketing, and Clinical Business Development. I welcome the opportunity of working with their team and expanding our Sofpulse device on a national level."

"Expanding our portfolio with the addition of SofPulse® is extremely exciting for us. SofPulse® is an evolutionary technology and we look forward to offering this simple, effective and non-invasive therapy to help reduce swelling and speed up the natural recovery process to our customers across the healthcare continuum," said Robert Crousore, President of Magniant.

Endonovo will retain responsibility for product development, regulatory approval, quality management, and manufacturing while Magniant will be responsible for sales, marketing, customer support and distribution activities.
