UMeWorld Secures Green Test Prep to Offer Online SAT and ACT Prep Software to Millions of Chinese Students

“America’s Top SAT Tutor” to Provide Online SAT and ACT Prep to the Chinese Market through New Watershed Partnership with UMeWorld Limited

New York/Hong Kong (FSCwire) - UMeWorld Limited (OTCQB: UMEWF) and GreenTestPrep.com today announced a partnership to provide online SAT and ACT test prep software under UMeWorld's newly created 17Speech.com banner. The partnership is designed to help Chinese students prepare more effectively for and improve scores on the SAT and ACT, key determining factors in the fiercely competitive college admissions process.

"Anthony comes with a resume that puts him in the top 1% of SAT test prep professionals worldwide," said Ruby Hui, UMeWorld's Executive Vice President. "Before UMeWorld, it would normally cost Chinese students thousands of dollars to have access to a test prep tutor like Anthony-James. Now we are sharing Anthony-James' talents more affordably, so that thousands of Chinese students can benefit from his test prep expertise."

GreenTestPrep.com is an online tool that adapts to every student at every level of proficiency, and crafts customized lessons based on what each student needs to learn. Developed over Green's 14,000+ hours tutoring the SATs and ACTs and designed to help parents and students who are looking for an affordable, convenient, and effective way to improve their scores, GreenTestPrep.com has improved its average student's scores by over 346 points on the SAT and over 4 points on the ACT - results better than those of any other tutor, program, or classroom course in the industry.

Unlike the typical offerings on the market, Green Test Prep encourages students to work from home, study on their own schedule, and diagnose their own weaknesses, an approach that empowers students to continually improve their scores over time and provides a motivating, engaging, and practical tool that they'll actually use.

"We're extremely proud to have been chosen by UMeWorld," said Anthony-James Green, founder and CEO of GreenTestPrep.com. "Through this partnership, we can empower students to succeed on a whole new scale in an entirely new market. We're already thrilled with the results our program is providing, and the opportunity to provide those same results to UMeWorld's clientele is exciting."

“This is the second personalized and teacher-led test prep product under the Company’s newly created 17Speech.com banner, following the addition to our IELTS solution,” added Hui.

UMeWorld will make GreenTestPrep.com available to all its registered users, including 2.12 million students, 1.18 million parents and 0.312 million teachers. To ensure the smooth transition from purely traditional classroom style prep to an online system, UMeWorld is hiring teachers to help support students, and keep them on track during a condensed eight to twelve-week study period. Subscriptions to GreenTestPrep.com will cost $600.

Nearly 460,000 Chinese students applied to U.S colleges and universities in 2014. Currently, the average test scores for Chinese test-takers is 1,450 for the SAT and 23.5 for the ACT. “Competition is fierce. International students must earn very high scores on these exams to even be considered, much less accepted,” added Green.
